

YOU GOTTA PAY THE RENT SOMEHOW

Feeling miserable because your band just can't seem to catch a lucky break, and you're stuck in a dead-end job to make ends meet? Take comfort in the fact that few artists manage to make a living out of their music from the get-go. Nearly everyone combines being a musician with some other form of work. For some it's a simple side job, other artists have a serious profession when they are not on stage. To prove our point, this is how Left of the Dial bands made a living while already booked for the festival.
